Time Complexity Analysis

Within my method for calculating the depth of the tree data there is a recursive method for calculation of tree depth being called in which each node must be visited by the depthStep() method. Therefore, the time complexity of this tree's depth calculation depends linearly on the value of n (nodes in the tree). Since that is the case, time complexity of this method is O(n).